Nickel Plated Brass EMC Locknut with CE

What is a EMC Locknut?

EMC locknut has raised teeth to make a connection with the panel or control boxes to securely hold the locknut in place.

Different from standard Locknut, the EMC Locknut sharp edges cut the isolated coverage and ensure the contact.

EMC locknut are made of Brass Nickel-Plated, used with brass cable glands and metal fittings, offering users a high level of EMC protection, quick installation time and savings in material costs.
